Understanding Artisan Consortium Reputation

The Artisan Consortium is a renowned organization within various game worlds, often representing a hub for skilled crafters, traders, and artisans. Earning reputation with the Artisan Consortium unlocks unique benefits, exclusive rewards, and access to advanced crafting recipes. The artisan consortium rep guide serves as a strategic manual, helping you navigate the intricacies of reputation building and outlining the key mechanics that affect your standing.

Reputation systems are designed to encourage engagement and reward dedication. By focusing on Artisan Consortium activities, representatives can steadily increase their reputation and unlock higher tiers of recognition. This process is essential for players seeking to enhance their crafting prowess, gain access to rare items, and boost their overall progression.

Reputation Mechanics and Progression

How Reputation Works

Reputation with the Artisan Consortium is measured through a points-based system. As you complete designated tasks, participate in consortium events, and contribute to collaborative projects, you earn reputation points. These points accumulate to elevate your rank within the organization, granting new privileges and unlocking exclusive opportunities.

Reputation Tiers Explained

Most Artisan Consortiums feature multiple reputation tiers, such as Neutral, Friendly, Honored, Revered, and Exalted. Progressing through these tiers requires consistent effort and strategic participation in consortium activities. Each tier offers increasing benefits, with the highest ranks granting access to the most sought-after rewards and advanced crafting techniques.

- Neutral: Entry-level access, limited rewards.
- Friendly: Basic recipes and minor bonuses unlocked.
- Honored: Access to mid-tier crafting and specialty vendors.
- Revered: Advanced recipes, exclusive materials, and enhanced vendor options.
- Exalted: Full access to all consortium benefits, rare items, and elite crafting opportunities.

Tracking Your Reputation Progress

Accurate tracking of your reputation status is essential. Most games display consortium reputation in a dedicated interface, allowing you to monitor your progress and plan your activities accordingly. Setting clear goals for reputation advancement helps maintain focus and ensures efficient use of your time and resources.

Daily and Weekly Tasks for Reputation

Daily Quests

Daily quests are a primary method for earning Artisan Consortium reputation. These tasks often involve gathering materials, crafting specific items, or completing deliveries for consortium members. Completing daily quests consistently is one of the fastest ways to increase your reputation, especially when combined with other activities.

Weekly Challenges

Weekly challenges offer larger reputation gains and may require participation in consortium events, group crafting sessions, or fulfilling bulk orders. These tasks are typically more complex than daily quests but yield substantial rewards and reputation points. Prioritizing weekly challenges ensures steady progression through reputation tiers.

Special Events and Limited-Time Opportunities

The Artisan Consortium regularly hosts special events that provide bonus reputation points and unique rewards. Participation in these events is highly recommended, as they often feature exclusive tasks and rare crafting opportunities. Staying informed about upcoming events is crucial for maximizing your reputation gains.

1. Check for daily and weekly tasks each reset.
2. Participate in special events for bonus reputation.
3. Complete group challenges for additional rewards.
4. Monitor consortium announcements for limited-time opportunities.

Vendor Relations and Rewards

Consortium Vendors

Vendors affiliated with the Artisan Consortium offer a wide range of goods, recipes, and materials. Your reputation level directly affects the selection and pricing of items available from these vendors. Building strong relations with consortium vendors is key to unlocking rare recipes and securing valuable crafting materials.

Reward Structures

Each reputation tier unlocks distinct rewards. As you progress, you gain access to exclusive crafting recipes, cosmetic items, mounts, and rare resources. Some rewards are only available for a limited time or during special events, making it essential to maintain active participation in consortium activities.

Trading and Crafting Opportunities

Advanced representatives can participate in consortium-led trading and crafting opportunities. These activities provide access to high-value contracts and collaborative projects, further enhancing your reputation and expanding your influence within the consortium.

Effective Strategies for Rapid Reputation Gain

Maximizing Task Efficiency

Efficient task management is vital for rapid reputation growth. Prioritize high-yield activities such as weekly challenges and special events, and coordinate with other representatives to complete group tasks. Utilize available resources and plan your crafting projects around consortium objectives to ensure optimal returns.

Consortium Networking

Building a network of trusted contacts within the Artisan Consortium enhances your reputation gains. Collaborative projects and joint ventures often yield bonus points and unlock access to exclusive rewards. Engage actively in consortium forums and discussion groups to stay updated on best practices and upcoming opportunities.

- Form alliances for group crafting sessions.
- Share resources and materials with consortium members.
- Stay proactive in event participation and community engagement.

Utilizing Reputation Boosts

Some games offer reputation-boosting items, consumables, or event bonuses that temporarily increase your reputation gains. Incorporate these boosts into your routine to accelerate your progression, especially during high-yield activities or limited-time events.

Common Mistakes and How to Avoid Them

Neglecting Daily Tasks

Skipping daily quests can significantly slow your reputation progress. Make it a habit to complete daily tasks, even if they seem repetitive, as they provide a steady stream of reputation points and incremental rewards.

Ignoring Vendor Relations

Overlooking vendor interactions can lead to missed opportunities for rare recipes and materials. Regularly check vendor inventories and maintain strong relations to ensure consistent access to the best items available.

Poor Time Management

Failing to plan your activities around consortium resets and events can result in lost reputation opportunities. Utilize scheduling tools and set reminders to maximize your participation in all reputation-building activities.

1. Always complete daily and weekly tasks.
2. Maintain active vendor relations.
3. Participate in group activities and events.
4. Use reputation boosts strategically.

Advanced Tips for Experienced Representatives

Mastering Consortium Contracts

Experienced representatives can take on consortium contracts that require advanced crafting skills and resource management. Successfully completing these contracts yields significant reputation points and exclusive rewards. Focus on mastering complex recipes and resource optimization for maximum contract efficiency.

Optimizing Group Collaborations

Group collaborations enable representatives to tackle large-scale projects and earn bonus reputation points. Coordinate with skilled artisans and specialists to ensure project success and unlock consortium-wide achievements. Communication and teamwork are critical for navigating advanced collaboration tasks.

Staying Ahead of Updates

Consortium mechanics and reward structures may change with game updates or expansions. Stay informed about upcoming changes by participating in consortium meetings, reading official announcements, and engaging with the broader crafting community. Adapting quickly to new systems ensures sustained reputation growth and access to emerging opportunities.

Conclusion

The artisan consortium rep guide provides all the essential information and strategies you need to succeed as a representative. By understanding reputation mechanics, prioritizing daily and weekly tasks, and leveraging effective strategies, you can maximize your reputation gains and unlock the full potential of the Artisan Consortium. Avoid common pitfalls, embrace advanced tactics, and remain proactive in consortium activities to ensure steady progression and access to exclusive rewards. With the right approach, every representative can thrive within the Artisan Consortium and achieve mastery in their chosen craft.

The Artisan Consortium Rep Guide: Your Key to Success

Are you ready to unlock the potential of representing the Artisan Consortium? This comprehensive guide provides everything you need to know to thrive as a representative, from understanding the product line to mastering sales techniques and building lasting client relationships. Whether you're a seasoned sales professional or just starting your journey, this guide will equip you with the knowledge and strategies to excel as an Artisan Consortium representative and build a successful career. Let's dive in!

Introduction: Understanding the Artisan Consortium and its Value Proposition

The Artisan Consortium represents a unique collection of handcrafted goods, each possessing a story and unparalleled quality. Before you dive into sales strategies, it's crucial to fully understand the brand's identity and the value it offers to potential clients. This involves more than just memorizing product features; it's about internalizing the ethos of craftsmanship, sustainability, and artistic excellence that defines the Artisan Consortium. This section will equip you with the knowledge necessary to confidently articulate the Consortium's unique selling proposition (USP) and resonate with potential clients on an emotional level.

H2: Mastering the Product Line: Knowledge is Power

Understanding the Artisan Consortium's product offerings is paramount. This isn't simply about knowing the names and prices; it's about understanding the materials used, the manufacturing process, the artisans behind each piece, and the unique story each item tells.

H3: Detailed Product Descriptions: Familiarize yourself with the detailed descriptions of each product, including its origin, materials, and unique characteristics. Consider creating your own cheat sheet summarizing key selling points for each item.

H3: Understanding the Craftsmanship: Beyond the technical specifications, understand the dedication and skill that go into each handcrafted piece. This will allow you to speak passionately and authentically about the quality and artistry involved.

H3: Identifying Key Selling Points: For each product, identify its key selling points. Is it the durability? The unique design? The sustainable materials? Knowing these will help you tailor your pitch to specific client needs.

H2: Effective Sales Strategies: Converting Prospects into Clients

Selling handcrafted goods requires a different approach than selling mass-produced items. It's about building relationships and telling a story.

H3: Building Rapport: Focus on building a genuine connection with your clients. Listen actively to their needs and preferences, and tailor your presentation accordingly.

H3: Storytelling: Every Artisan Consortium product has a story. Learn to tell these stories effectively, highlighting the history, the artisan's passion, and the unique journey of each piece.

H3: Handling Objections: Learn how to address potential objections effectively and professionally. Be prepared to answer questions about price, materials, and care instructions.

H2: Building Lasting Client Relationships: The Foundation of Success

Long-term success relies on cultivating strong relationships with your clients.

H3: Follow-Up Communication: After a sale, follow up with your clients to ensure satisfaction and foster ongoing engagement.

H3: Personalized Service: Go the extra mile to personalize your service. Remember client preferences and details to show your commitment.

H3: Referral Programs: Encourage client referrals by offering incentives and highlighting the benefits of recommending the Artisan Consortium to their network.

H2: Utilizing Marketing Tools and Resources: Expanding Your Reach

The Artisan Consortium likely provides marketing materials and resources. Utilize these effectively!

H3: Social Media Marketing: Learn how to utilize social media platforms to showcase the products and connect with potential clients.

H3: Website and Online Catalog: Familiarize yourself with the company website and online catalog to quickly access product information.

H3: Sales Training and Support: Take advantage of any sales training or support offered by the Artisan Consortium.

Conclusion:

Becoming a successful Artisan Consortium representative requires dedication, knowledge, and a passion for handcrafted goods. By mastering the product line, employing effective sales strategies, and building strong client relationships, you can unlock your full potential and build a thriving career. Remember to leverage the provided resources and continuously refine your approach to achieve lasting success.

1. What kind of commission structure does the Artisan Consortium offer? This will vary; contact the Consortium directly for details.
2. What are the required qualifications to become a representative? Again, this is specific to the Consortium; check their application materials.
3. What kind of training and support is provided? The Consortium will likely provide training materials and ongoing support. Check their representative onboarding materials.
4. How do I access marketing materials? Your onboarding process should provide access to the necessary assets.
5. What is the return policy for the products? This information should be readily available on the Consortium website or in your representative materials.

artisan consortium rep guide: Gravitational Waves in Physics and Astrophysics M. Coleman Miller, Nicolás Yunes, 2021 The direct detection of gravitational waves in 2015 has initiated a new era of gravitational wave astronomy, which has already paid remarkable dividends in our understanding of astrophysics and gravitational physics. Aimed at advanced undergraduates and graduate students, this book introduces gravitational waves and its many applications to cosmology, nuclear physics, astrophysics and theoretical physics.

artisan consortium rep guide: Marine and Coastal Protected Areas Rodney V. Salm, John R. Clark, Erkki Siirila, 2000 This is a new edition of the classic textbook on marine protected area (MPA) management in the tropics, originally produced as an output of the Bali World Parks Congress in 1982. Approaches to planning and managing MPAs have evolved considerably. Major advances include innovative financing mechanisms, partnerships with the private sector and NGOs, and collaborative management between government and coastal communities. These advances have brought new approaches for MPA establishment and management that are more participatory, involving communities through interaction and collaboration rather than prescription. With new case studies and illustrations, the guide comes in a water-resistant cover for field use. It is intended for those who plan individual and/or national MPA systems and gives philosophical context for MPAs along with some basic principles and approaches.

artisan consortium rep guide: Integrating Food into Urban Planning Yves Cabannes, Cecilia Marocchino, 2018-11-22 The integration of food into urban planning is a crucial and emerging topic. Urban planners, alongside the local and regional authorities that have traditionally been less engaged in food-related issues, are now asked to take a central and active part in understanding how food is produced, processed, packaged, transported, marketed, consumed, disposed of and recycled in our cities. While there is a growing body of literature on the topic, the issue of planning cities in such a way they will increase food security and nutrition, not only for the affluent sections of society but primarily for the poor, is much less discussed, and much less informed by practices. This volume, a collaboration between the Bartlett Development Planning Unit at UCL and the Food Agricultural Organisation, aims to fill this gap by putting more than 20 city-based experiences in perspective, including studies from Toronto, New York City, Portland and Providence in North America; Milan in Europe and Cape Town in Africa; Belo Horizonte and Lima in South America; and, in Asia, Bangkok and Tokyo. By studying and comparing cities of different sizes, from both the Global North and South, in developed and developing regions, the contributors collectively argue for the importance and circulation of global knowledge rooted in local food planning practices, programmes and policies.

artisan consortium rep guide: Workplace Solutions for Childcare Catherine Hein, Naomi Cassirer, 2010 Covers childcare centres, vouchers, subsidies, out-of-school care, parental leave and flexible working.

artisan consortium rep guide: The Posthuman Rosi Braidotti, 2013-07-11 The Posthuman offers both an introduction and major contribution to contemporary debates on the posthuman. Digital 'second life', genetically modified food, advanced prosthetics, robotics and reproductive technologies are familiar facets of our globally linked and technologically mediated societies. This has blurred the traditional distinction between the human and its others, exposing the non-naturalistic structure of the human. The Posthuman starts by exploring the extent to which a post-humanist move displaces the traditional humanistic unity of the subject. Rather than perceiving this situation as a loss of cognitive and moral self-mastery, Braidotti argues that the posthuman helps us make sense of our flexible and multiple identities. Braidotti then analyzes the escalating effects of post-anthropocentric thought, which encompass not only other species, but also the sustainability of our planet as a whole. Because contemporary market economies profit from the control and commodification of all that lives, they result in hybridization, erasing categorical distinctions between the human and other species, seeds, plants, animals and bacteria. These dislocations induced by globalized cultures and economies enable a critique of anthropocentrism, but how reliable are they as indicators of a sustainable future? The Posthuman concludes by considering the implications of these shifts for the institutional practice of the humanities. Braidotti outlines new forms of cosmopolitan neo-humanism that emerge from the spectrum of post-colonial and race studies, as well as gender analysis and environmentalism. The challenge of the posthuman condition consists in seizing the opportunities for new social bonding and community building, while pursuing sustainability and empowerment.

artisan consortium rep guide: Arctic Human Development Report Joan Nymand Larsen, Gail Fondahl, 2015-02-18 The goals of the second volume of the AHDR – Arctic Human Development Report: Regional Processes and Global Linkages – are to provide an update to the first AHDR (2004) in terms of an assessment of the state of Arctic human development; to highlight the major trends and changes unfolding related to the various issues and thematic areas of human development in the Arctic over the past decade; and, based on this assessment, to identify policy relevant conclusions and key gaps in knowledge, new and emerging Arctic success stories. The production of AHDR-II on the tenth anniversary of the first AHDR makes it possible to move beyond the baseline assessment to make valuable comparisons and contrasts across a decade of persistent and rapid change in the North. It addresses critical issues and emerging challenges in Arctic living conditions, quality of life in the North, global change impacts and adaptation, and Indigenous livelihoods. The assessment contributes to our understanding of the interplay and consequences of physical and social change processes affecting Arctic residents' quality of life, at both the regional and global scales. It shows that the Arctic is not a homogenous region. Impacts of globalization and environmental change differ within and between regions, between Indigenous and non-Indigenous northerners, between genders and along other axes.

artisan consortium rep guide: Geographical Indication and Global Agri-Food Alessandro Bonanno, Kae Sekine, Hart N. Feuer, 2019-06-25 This book addresses the relevance of geographical indication (GI) as a tool for local and socio-economic development and democratization of agri-food, with case studies from Asia, Europe and the Americas. A geographical indication is a sign used on products that have a specific geographical origin and possess qualities or a reputation that are due to that origin. It provides not only a way for businesses to leverage the value of their geographically unique products, but also to inform and attract consumers. A highly contested topic, GI is praised as a tool for the revitalization of agricultural communities, while also criticized for being an instrument exploited by global corporate forces to promote their interests. There are concerns that the promotion of GI may hamper the establishment of democratic forms of development. The contributing authors address this topic by offering theoretically informed investigations of GI from around the world. The book includes case studies ranging from green tea in Japan, olive oil in Turkey and dried fish in Norway, to French wine and Mexican Mezcal. It also places GI in the broader context of the evolution and trends of agri-food under neoliberal globalization. The book will be of interest to researchers, policy makers and students in agri-food studies, sociology of food and agriculture, geography, agricultural and rural economics, environmental and intellectual property law, and social development.

artisan consortium rep guide: Science and Moral Imagination Matthew J. Brown, 2020-11-17 The idea that science is or should be value-free, and that values are or should be formed independently of science, has been under fire by philosophers of science for decades. Science and Moral Imagination directly challenges the idea that science and values cannot and should not influence each other. Matthew J. Brown argues that science and values mutually influence and implicate one another, that the influence of values on science is pervasive and must be responsibly managed, and that science can and should have an influence on our values. This interplay, he explains, must be guided by accounts of scientific inquiry and value judgment that are sensitive to the complexities of their interactions. Brown presents scientific inquiry and value judgment as types of problem-solving practices and provides a new framework for thinking about how we might ethically evaluate episodes and decisions in science, while offering guidance for scientific practitioners and institutions about how they can incorporate value judgments into their work. His framework, dubbed "the ideal of moral imagination," emphasizes the role of imagination in value judgment and the positive role that value judgment plays in science.

artisan consortium rep guide: An Introduction to Community Development Rhonda

Phillips, Robert Pittman, 2014-11-26 Beginning with the foundations of community development, An Introduction to Community Development offers a comprehensive and practical approach to planning for communities. Road-tested in the authors' own teaching, and through the training they provide for practicing planners, it enables students to begin making connections between academic study and practical know-how from both private and public sector contexts. An Introduction to Community Development shows how planners can utilize local economic interests and integrate finance and marketing considerations into their strategy. Most importantly, the book is strongly focused on outcomes, encouraging students to ask: what is best practice when it comes to planning for communities, and how do we accurately measure the results of planning practice? This newly revised and updated edition includes: increased coverage of sustainability issues, discussion of localism and its relation to community development, quality of life, community well-being and public health considerations, and content on local food systems. Each chapter provides a range of reading materials for the student, supplemented with text boxes, a chapter outline, keywords, and reference lists, and new skills based exercises at the end of each chapter to help students turn their learning into action, making this the most user-friendly text for community development now available.

artisan consortium rep guide: World Development Report 1994 , 1994 World Development Report 1994 examines the link between infrastructure and development and explores ways in which developing countries can improve both the provision and the quality of infrastructure services. In recent decades, developing countries have made substantial investments in infrastructure, achieving dramatic gains for households and producers by expanding their access to services such as safe water, sanitation, electric power, telecommunications, and transport. Even more infrastructure investment and expansion are needed in order to extend the reach of services - especially to people living in rural areas and to the poor. But as this report shows, the quantity of investment cannot be the exclusive focus of policy. Improving the quality of infrastructure service also is vital. Both quantity and quality improvements are essential to modernize and diversify production, help countries compete internationally, and accommodate rapid urbanization. The report identifies the basic cause of poor past performance as inadequate institutional incentives for improving the provision of infrastructure. To promote more efficient and responsive service delivery, incentives need to be changed through commercial management, competition, and user involvement. Several trends are helping to improve the performance of infrastructure. First, innovation in technology and in the regulatory management of markets makes more diversity possible in the supply of services. Second, an evaluation of the role of government is leading to a shift from direct government provision of services to increasing private sector provision and recent experience in many countries with public-private partnerships is highlighting new ways to increase efficiency and expand services. Third, increased concern about social and environmental sustainability has heightened public interest in infrastructure design and performance.

artisan consortium rep guide: The Three Worlds of Welfare Capitalism Gosta Esping-Andersen, 2013-05-29 Few discussions in modern social science have occupied as much attention as the changing nature of welfare states in western societies. Gosta Esping-Andersen, one of the most distinguished contributors to current debates on this issue, here provides a new analysis of the character and role of welfare states in the functioning of contemporary advanced western societies. Esping-Andersen distinguishes several major types of welfare state, connecting these with variations in the historical development of different western countries. Current economic processes, the author argues, such as those moving towards a post-industrial order, are not shaped by autonomous market forces but by the nature of states and state differences. Fully informed by comparative materials, this book will have great appeal to everyone working on issues of economic development and post-industrialism. Its audience will include students and academics in sociology, economics and politics.

artisan consortium rep guide: A Practical Guide to SysML Sanford Friedenthal, Alan Moore, Rick Steiner, 2009-08-25 A Practical Guide to SysML: The Systems Modeling Language is a comprehensive guide to SysML for systems and software engineers. It provides an advanced and practical resource for modeling systems with SysML. The source describes the modeling language and offers information about employing SysML in transitioning an organization or project to model-based systems engineering. The book also presents various examples to help readers understand the OMG Systems Modeling Professional (OCSMP) Certification Program. The text is organized into four parts. The first part provides an overview of systems engineering. It explains the model-based approach by comparing it with the document-based approach and providing the modeling principles. The overview of SYsML is also discussed. The second part of the book covers a comprehensive description of the language. It discusses the main concepts of model organization, parametrics, blocks, use cases, interactions, requirements, allocations, and profiles. The third part presents examples that illustrate how SysML supports different model-based procedures. The last part discusses how to transition and deploy SysML into an organization or project. It explains the integration of SysML into a systems development environment. Furthermore, it describes the category of data that are exchanged between a SysML tool and other types of tools, and the types of exchange mechanisms that can be used. It also covers the criteria that must be considered when selecting a SysML. Software and systems engineers, programmers, IT practitioners, experts, and non-experts will find this book useful.*The authoritative guide for understanding and applying SysML*Authored by the foremost experts on the language*Language description, examples, and quick reference guide included artisan consortium rep guide: Organic Farming, Prototype for Sustainable Agricultures Stéphane Bellon, Servane Penvern, 2014-04-23 Stakeholders show a growing interest for organic food and farming (OF&F), which becomes a societal component. Rather than questioning whether OF&F outperforms conventional agriculture or not, the main question addressed in this book is how, and in what conditions, OF&F may be considered as a prototype towards sustainable agricultures. The book gathers 25 papers introduced in a first chapter. The first section investigates OF&F production processes and its capacity to benefit from the systems functioning to achieve higher self-sufficiency. The second one proposes an overview of organic performances providing commodities and public goods. The third one focuses on organics development pathways within agri-food systems and territories. As well as a strong theoretical component, this book provides an overview of the new challenges for research and development. It questions the benefits as well as knowledge gaps with a particular emphasis on bottlenecks and lock-in effects at various levels.

artisan consortium rep guide: The Anatomy of Fascism Robert O. Paxton, 2007-12-18 What is fascism? By focusing on the concrete: what the fascists did, rather than what they said, the esteemed historian Robert O. Paxton answers this question. From the first violent uniformed bands beating up “enemies of the state,” through Mussolini’s rise to power, to Germany’s fascist radicalization in World War II, Paxton shows clearly why fascists came to power in some countries and not others, and explores whether fascism could exist outside the early-twentieth-century European setting in which it emerged. A deeply intelligent and very readable book. . . . Historical analysis at its best. –The Economist The Anatomy of Fascism will have a lasting impact on our understanding of modern European history, just as Paxton’s classic Vichy France redefined our vision of World War II. Based on a lifetime of research, this compelling and important book transforms our knowledge of fascism—“the major political innovation of the twentieth century, and the source of much of its pain.”

artisan consortium rep guide: Evaluating geographical indications Giovanni Belletti, G., Marescotti, A., 2021-11-03 Geographical indications represent a powerful way to foster sustainable food systems through territorial approaches and market linkages, especially for small-scale actors. In this perspective, and following the FAO publication methodologies of the origin-linked virtuous circle, local actors need to well define their geographical indication (GI) system and, more specifically, the product specifications as well as monitor and evaluate the impacts and readjust the system as necessary for the reproduction of local resources. These guidelines aim at providing a detailed and stepwise approach with specific tools to help practitioners in establishing their framework in relation with their objectives and local conditions, to help both the qualification through a prospective evaluation, and the reproduction of local resources through retrospective evaluation.

artisan consortium rep guide: Structure and Improvisation in Creative Teaching R. Keith Sawyer, 2011-06-27 With an increasing emphasis on creativity and innovation in the twenty-first century, teachers need to be creative professionals just as students must learn to be creative. And yet, schools are institutions with many important structures and guidelines that teachers must follow. Effective creative teaching strikes a delicate balance between structure and improvisation. The authors draw on studies of jazz, theater improvisation and dance improvisation to demonstrate that the most creative performers work within similar structures and guidelines. By looking to these creative genres, the book provides practical advice for teachers who wish to become more creative professionals.

artisan consortium rep guide: The Cigarette Century Allan M. Brandt, 2009-01-06 The invention of mass marketing led to cigarettes being emblazoned in advertising and film, deeply tied to modern notions of glamour and sex appeal. It is hard to find a photo of Humphrey Bogart or Lauren Bacall without a cigarette. No product has been so heavily promoted or has become so deeply entrenched in American consciousness. And no product has received such sustained scientific scrutiny. The development of new medical knowledge demonstrating the dire harms of smoking ultimately shaped the evolution of evidence-based medicine. In response, the tobacco industry engineered a campaign of scientific disinformation seeking to delay, disrupt, and suppress these studies. Using a massive archive of previously secret documents, historian Allan Brandt shows how the industry pioneered these campaigns, particularly using special interest lobbying and largesse to elude regulation. But even as the cultural dominance of the cigarette has waned and consumption has fallen dramatically in the U.S., Big Tobacco remains securely positioned to expand into new global markets. The implications for the future are vast: 100 million people died of smoking-related diseases in the 20th century; in the next 100 years, we expect 1 billion deaths worldwide.

artisan consortium rep guide: Dairy Goats Feeding and Nutrition Antonello Cannas, Giuseppe Pulina, Ana Helena Dias Francesconi, 2008 Dairy goats have long been considered an important source of income for rural populations, providing the opportunity for profitable and sustainable diversity for small farms. Their importance is also increasing in intensive feeding systems and in large farms. They are highly adaptable due to their unique feeding habits and have become popular livestock animals in a range of environments, from temperate grasslands to subtropical, semi-arid and mountainous areas. Moreover, goat milk products are finding a growing acceptance in the world market and research has increased in feeding strategies for improved productivity and quality. Examining all aspects of dairy goat feeding and nutrition, this book represents a long awaited review of recent scientific research and updated techniques. Chapters discuss aspects such as the modelling and production of goat's milk as well as the estimation of nutrient requirements and food intake of goats.

artisan consortium rep guide: Art from a Fractured Past Cynthia E. Milton, 2014-02-21
Peru's Truth and Reconciliation Commission not only documented the political violence of the 1980s and 1990s but also gave Peruvians a unique opportunity to examine the causes and nature of that violence. In Art from a Fractured Past, scholars and artists expand on the commission's work, arguing for broadening the definition of the testimonial to include various forms of artistic production as documentary evidence. Their innovative focus on representation offers new and compelling perspectives on how Peruvians experienced those years and how they have attempted to come to terms with the memories and legacies of violence. Their findings about Peru offer insight into questions of art, memory, and truth that resonate throughout Latin America in the wake of dirty wars of the last half century. Exploring diverse works of art, including memorials, drawings, theater, film, songs, painted wooden retablos (three-dimensional boxes), and fiction, including an acclaimed graphic novel, the contributors show that art, not constrained by literal truth, can generate new opportunities for empathetic understanding and solidarity. Contributors. Ricardo Caro Cárdenas, Jesús Cossio, Ponciano del Pino, Cynthia M. Garza, Edilberto Jiménez Quispe, Cynthia E. Milton, Jonathan Ritter, Luis Rossell, Steve J. Stern, María Eugenia Ulfe, Víctor Vich, Alfredo Villar
